Art Studio: Bigger and Better

On Friday, November 23rd, the 2nd floor art studio was re-opened to the public after a three week closure and expansion. The art studio has nearly doubled in size and now includes four activity stations. New weekly activities will focus on the process rather than the product and open-ended art and tinkering will be encouraged in our new space. More fun is still to come as we add easels, children's art work, painting supplies and window art to the room. Make sure you check out all these improvements the next time you volunteer.

Discovery Center Museum visitors enjoy the new expanded 2nd floor art studio.
